Along the Trail

By J. B. YULE

ECHOES FROM THE NORTH

While travelling "Along the Trail" the other day I ran into the following story, told by a man who spent many years in the transportation business in the North.

He stated that the snows were tied up at a point on the side of the Mountain or Third Portage at Smith's allow the crew to rest. A large number of Indians were employed to help run the 32 miles of rapids. It so happened that one of the crew had false teeth, over which he had complete control.

The Indians were seated in groups a few yards away from the boat crew and they eyed the man with the false teeth very closely, and he was sure they were talking about him.

Finally the man with the false teeth stopped eating, folded his arms and shot both plates and his knife out of his mouth. The Indians immediately became panicky and one by one left for their tents, where several tents away, and did not return.

They had never seen false teeth before and when the joker shot them he was out of their mouth and held them it was too much for the red men, who took no chances with a white retrait.

TOO MUCH FOR THE HOTEL

KEEPER

On Wednesday, while travelling "Along the Trail" with a party of congenial friends, we stopped at a certain hotel to be refreshed, the day being none other than Commemoration Day.

We were honored by having the proprietor wait on us.

One of the party—a man I know very well, and sometimes not so well—ordered ginger ale, the first time he had ever done so at this particular hotel.

"Did I get you right?" interrogated the hotel man.

"Absolutely," replied my friend.

"This was a knockout," said the general, swayed, staggered and grasped the back of a chair to keep from falling. When he finally got to his feet he himself remarked: "Are you sick, or what is the matter with you? I suppose if there was a chicken feed going on you would want the good old beer, but on the occasion of the greatest event that has happened in the British Empire for years you ask for ginger ale!"

"I stop trying to figure out the man being."

"And my friend drank the sparkling beverage, which looked like champagne but wasn't even remotely related to it."

THINKS THIS COUNTRY THE

BEST EVER

On Friday afternoon I had the pleasure of chatting with Oliver Monard of Rezanow, who on the following Sunday celebrated his forty-sixth birthday.

Mr. Monard hails from Glenoraire and, by the way, has a smattering of Gaelic, the language which the Highlanders claim was spoken in the Garden of Eden.

The visitor said: "It has been stated that the rabbit died off. This is wrong. The settlers ate them."

Continuing, Mr. Monard, who was looking the picture of health, observed "I have never seen a spot that equals this country, take it all in all. I farming. When I came here in 1914 I had to brush the land to make room for my house. I am pleased to say that I have my half section clear of timber and brush. I am proud that I decided to come to the Peace River."

A 24-Year Old International Scout

Friendship

An unusual good turn performed 24 years ago resulted in a still continuing friendship between the Boy Scouts of Hastings and St. Leonards, Eng., and the Scouts of Portugal. In 1912 the Portuguese steamship Coana was wrecked off Eastbourne. All the bodies of two seamen were washed to shore at St. Leonards. Members of the 2nd Hastings Scout Group arranged for their burial at the Borough Cemetery. The Portuguese Government on learning of this invited the entire Hastings Scout Group to pay a visit to Lisbon where they were entertained with great cordiality. Continuing the friendship the Hastings and St. Leonards Scouts will entertain a number of Portuguese Scouts on their way to attend the World Scout Jamboree to be held in Holland this summer.

Legislature Happenings

By T. B. Windrose

EDMONTON, May 17.—That an election before the snow flies is in the mind of political leaders and party officials is becoming more and more evident, despite denials from all quarters that any of them want an election.

During the past few days the Conservative party provincial executive met in Calgary to discuss plans and policies in the light of a possible election next fall. The Liberals have elected work on plans for their propulsion campaign and have opened offices in the McLeod block, Edmonton, with a publicity man in charge.

Clarence Scott, former news editor of the Calgary Herald, has been appointed publicity man for the Liberal party.

Premier Aberhart still insists that he doesn't want an election, and yet urges constituency groups to instruct "insurgent" members to cross the floor of the house, which may be the most certain way of securing an election, it is being pointed out by his critics.

The "insurgent" or "progressive" M.L.A.'s in the Social Credit party are perhaps the only ones who do not want an election. According to them, all they ask for is a change in leader.

There had been no word received from them. MacLachlan, chairman of the Social Credit planning board, who is in London, up to the time this news came, had been waiting for a decision as to whether or not to go ahead with the election. Major C. H. Douglas will come to Alberta to announce the result.

As the time for the re-assembly of the legislature draws near, it becomes more interesting to the public to know what the Social Credit board is doing to do about the report on a definite plan which it is expected to be in a position to make to the members. One well-informed person stated this week that an announcement may be expected from Major Douglas within a short time, and that the present chairman of the board while Mr.
MacLachlan is in London, said there will be a decision in a few days.

The question often arises on the lips of the public as to whether or not the Social Credit party is in a position to win a majority in the next election. "With Major Douglas" is the answer. Others think he won't come, while the present provincial executive is in power.

Scott's "Discovery" Manned By Sea

Scots

One of the vessels which attracted special attention in the Commemoration parade on the Thames was Captain Scott's famous Polar ship "Discovery." The ship, which is in the possession of the Boy Scouts, was manned by Sea Scouts. It was used during the Commemoration as a hotel for Scout visitors.

King and Queen Review Scouts at

Windsor

A thousand Boy Scouts from all parts of England and Wales, all the holders of the King's Scout badge or medals for gallantry, were reviewed by King George and Queen Elizabeth at Windsor on Sunday, April 25, prior to the great annual National Scout Service in St. James's Chapel.

With the King and Queen were Queen Mary, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose, Princess Helena Victoria, the Archbishop of Canterbury, Lord and Lady Baden-Powell and Lord Sourin. Also participating was a party of crippled Scouts from the Hastings Hospital, near Ascar.

A Sea Scout Fleet On Lake Ontario

Lake Ontario will this summer see a fleet under the Boy Scout flag. The Sea Scouts of Toronto, through the good offices of Commodore T. K. Ward of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, have acquired two additional schooners, and they now have a fleet of four of these old time craft, and in addition a modest auxiliary and other smaller craft.

Scouts To Parade at Toronto

Exhibition

The popular parade of Wolf Cubes and Boy Scouts will again be featured at the Canadian National Exhibition this year, on the last day of the fair.
The day will be known as "Citizenship Day" and the parade will be extended to Cubes and Scouts throughout the province to come to Toronto to participate. In addition to the parade, there will be displays of Scout and Cub training activities.

A Scout Leader's Indian Play

A new venture in Boy Scout entertainment, an original musical play, "The Flight of an Arrow" was put on successfully by the 10th Wychwood Scout Troop and the summer at Van-garden Road Collegiate, Toronto. The story was the work of Scoutmaster P.
Watson. The play concerns an Indian, kidnapped in childhood and the search for her by a young Mountie whose parents had been murdered by the Indians when he was a boy.

World Scout Jamboree Postage Stamps

Special postage stamps of three denominations have been issued by the Netherlands government in honor of the Fifth World Jamboree of Boy Scouts to be held in Holland from July 31st to August 13th next. A 1½ cent stamp depicts a Dutch Boy Scout badge on a light green background, and 6 cent stamp depicts a drummer against a background of flags of different nations, calling the Scouts of the world together, and the 12½ cent stamp portrays the head of a Dutch Scout with curly hair and a shoulder of a Dutch Scout with arm outstretched in salute to the youth of the world. The stamps bear the motto "Nederland - Wereld Jamboree, 1937."

ship. They have announced they would present a united front for Social Credit but not for Premier William Aberhart. And that about some 25 situation as regards the prospects for an election.

The old line parties are siding their lot for the battle and will make a desperate effort to defeat the government if it comes to a showdown.

There has been no announcement of a successor to S. G. Carlisle, livestock commissioner, so far, although Hon. D.
B. Mullen is expected to announce one during the present week. During the past week other changes have been made, including dismissal of W. Holdsworth, chief clerk in the livestock branch, after 24 years in the civil service.

Beaver Lodge...

Mr. Sharpe expressed surprise at the figure for the nurses' home. He thought the auditor's report showed about twenty thousand for the nurses' home and five thousand for a heating plant, most of which latter item, he candidly admitted, was occasioned by the requirements of the new building.

For the hospital only the old plant would have done with a few small outlays. Mr. Sharpe said that he had given Mr. Shoults the figure of twenty-seven thousand dollars and later in the discussion Mr. Sharpe acknowledged that the accounts may not yet be quite all in and that the home was still incomplete.

Attention turned to the tax levy.
After assessing the audience that he was present solely with a view to helping the western people solve their hospital problem, Mr. Sharpe explained in detail how the board had sought to lighten the load on the outlying points and how those least able to pay but taxes raised the mill rate since the government had to advance the money levied on each local improvement district and then in turn had to collect this from the taxpayers of said district. If some did not pay their taxes the mill rate had to be raised and the district had to pay to lighten the load on the outlying points. The hospital was overcrowded, there being as many as sixty patients at one time in a forty-bed hospital. Increased accommodation was clearly required. Where would it be provided? The hospital was to build sub-hospitals at the outlying points. The little nursing home at the old town had taken

OUR AIRMAN KING

King George VI is the first King-Ducroire of the British dominions who has served in the Royal Air Force. Probably many of his subjects do not even know that during the war 1914-18 he served in 1917 as an officer of the Royal Naval Air Service at Cranwell and afterwards as a captain on the staff of General Trenchard with the Independent Air Force in eastern France.

During that time he did the regular duties of a staff officer. He lived in the mess alone with other officers of his rank and took part in their daily life. At that time he was not the direct heir to the throne, when in itself brought him nearer to the ordinary serving officer of the time. He took his duties seriously and won the personal regard of all who worked with him, besides acquiring a knowledge of the Air Service which he could not have got in any other way.

In the past we have had Sailor Kings and Soldier Kings, now for the first time we have an Airman King just at the time in our history when air power is the dominant factor in world politics. And in this the British Empire is peculiarly blessed.

INSTRUMENT FLYING AND ACCIDENTS

The old adage to the effect that there is no substitute for good judgment seems to have special application to the many recent airline crash-ups in America, with ships fully equipped with the most modern of instrument equipment, robot controls, and radio beam lanes. To place dependence upon delicate watchlike instruments of almost laboratory precision, after being bounced about in an airplane, is taking a really long chance. The writer's long experience in the maintenance of instruments of the same general type employed as navigational instruments on airlines gives him understanding of the frailties of these instruments, even under ideal conditions, and he does not hesitate to condemn present practice.

POU DU CIRL ("Sky Pilot")

There is this respect. Tiny points of razor-like keenness resting in jeweled bearings are not adaptable to aeroplanes. Again, the effect of atmospheric "static" upon the readings of such instruments at high altitudes places another element of uncertainty as to just what the instrument happens to be indicating at the given time. In time, undoubtedly, these difficulties will be ironed out and more substantial and less erratic devices will be installed. But at present, in short, our airline "pilot flyers" long discredited and demeaned by the newer school of instrumentalists, would have undoubtedly shown a better safety record than the instrument flyers have demonstrated during the past few months. And in the brain equipment of the "pilot flyers" is a factor known as instinct which to our knowledge is not possessed by instruments.

DIESEL ENGINES

The year 1936 witnessed tremendous promotional development of the diesel engine, even in aviation, where the diesel has repeatedly proved to be a diesel flop. The popular idea that a diesel engine will burn any old kind of fuel ranging from newspapers to tin cans, is an error. A diesel engine requires a highly refined specialized fuel known as "diesel oil" which is a far cry from the cheap fuel oils that the lay press speculates for this engine. Increasing demand for the diesel oil will immediately result in higher prices until, finally, there will not be much difference between the cost of gasoline and diesel oil, or not enough difference to offset difficulties due to the delicate fuel supply system. Oil, wax, diesel and lint that will pass freely through a gasoline carburetor will quickly clog and choke the small passages in the spraying mechanism of a diesel engine. Moisture in gasoline, not noticeable with a gasoline engine, will cause unlimited trouble with a diesel. When we get right down to the bottom of

In the matter, the steam engine is the only type of heat engine that can be depended upon to successfully burn every type of fuel. Its food includes coal, sawdust, gasoline, crude oil, fuel oil, coke, tan bark, lignite, peat, tar and a multitude of other fuels of gaseous, liquid or solid composition. Undoubtedly, an engine of this type will be the ultimate solution of the heat engine problem.

WANT A GOOD LAWN? HERE'S HOW TO GET IT

Just as soon as the soil is dry and firm enough to walk upon after the snow has disappeared is the time to commence operations for ensuring a good lawn. The first thing to do is to remove all the dead grass by giving the lawn a thorough raking and attention should be directed to fixing up the bare patches by sowing fresh seed. The seed should be broadcast evenly on the bare patches after they have been raked to the depth of two inches. The seed should then be covered lightly with a sprinkling of sifted soil and packed down firmly. The patches should be kept moist, but not flooded, for at least two weeks through the application of a fine spray.

Fertilizer is necessary for the lawn and should be applied just as soon as the raking and sowing have been done, and as soon as the fertilizer has been applied it should be well watered in, care being taken to use a fine spray, so that the seed is not disturbed in the newly seeded areas. When the time for cutting arrives, which is as soon as the grass is long enough to allow the mower to function properly, regularity in the mowing should be observed, and it is a mistake to allow the grass to grow over two inches at any time.

Reliable grass mixtures may be obtained from seedmen, but for those people who wish to mix their own, L. C. Young of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Fredericton, who as a Canadian authority on grasses, has lectured on home lawns in the United States, recommends for the average lawn a mixture of four parts Kentucky Blue grass and one part Red Top at the rate of three to four pounds per 1,000 square feet of lawn. If it is desired to include white clover, one-eighth part should be added. The mixture. Where the above mixture does not give satisfactory results owing to local conditions, Rhode Island Bent grass should be used at the rate of two to three pounds per 1,000 square feet. The quantity of Rough-stalk Meadow grass should be added. Failure to grow grass in shady places is due more often to conditions of low fertility and lack of moisture than to the shade itself.

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

PERIODICAL HEALTH EXAMINATION

Mary Smith, Canadian nurse, with a wealth of golden hair, clear blue intelligent eyes and handsome features, served the needs of soldiers in the hospitals at Etaples, France, during the period of the War. She met her fate there in the person of Lieutenant Sanders of the United States Navy. They were married and went to live in Philadelphia in 1922. The husband was promoted and had a comfortable position in the Navy Pay Office. They were very happy and in the course of five years two fine children, a boy and a girl, arrived to cheer the household of the pair. (Names are, of course, fictitious.)

One day, chatting with a young woman friend, the subject of periodical medical examination came up for discussion.

The Metropolitans Life Insurance Company found that a large group of its policy-holders who were regularly re-examined, reduced their average mortality by 25%. Industrial concerns find it pays to check the health of their employees. In one plant during a period of 12 months eleven cases of diabetes and nineteen cases of blood diseases or kidney diseases were discovered at three examinations. Pay money tuberculosis may be found in time to save the patient and prevent infection in his family. The discovery of infected teeth and work need of infected teeth may prevent much disease. What is revealed by the person examined is the basis of work. Yet the health of once body is a thousand times more important than the maintenance of any machine.

The ordinary citizen, the thrifty farmer, the non-habitual drinker, the man who has an annual overhaul of his machine, he is an automobile, a keeper of the books of work. Yet the health of once body is a thousand times more important than the maintenance of any machine.

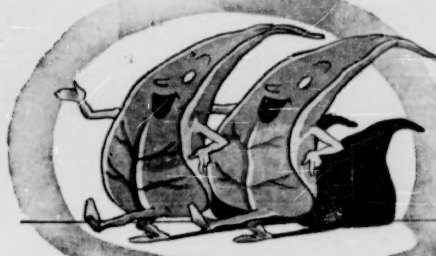

A man, 39 years of age, called to see his doctor because of what he called lumbago. He looked the picture of health. He had never had any illness. Routine examination included an analysis of the urine. Sugar was found in the man's urine and further investigation proved that he had an early case of diabetes. He was put on a proper diabetic diet and now, ten years later, is in good health. If he had waited until his diabetic condition showed marked symptoms, he would have had his health seriously undermined by this disease. He would, if alive, be taking insulin every day. Even with this care he would be fortunate to be alive. Periodical examination has served to save his life.

PIPES THAT ARE AN EYEBROW MAY BE HIDDEN CHEAPLY

If you have found at the pipes which were run down the side of your living room wall you will welcome this information. They may be hidden without the expense of tearing down walls and enclosing them.

One housewife built a set of useful shelves around them, enclosing the whole thing. The result generally resembled a grandfather's clock and provided an excellent place for cards, photographs, writing paper and other supplies that always seem to clutter up the house. The top shelf was left open and served as a base for a bright vase of flowers.

This is just one of the methods which may be used for hiding pipes or other unsightly but necessary appointments of the home. Money for built-in improvements, as well as for many other modernization and repair projects may be obtained through the Dominion Government Home Improvement Plan.

HUALLEN, May 18.—This popular rendezvous, the Huallen Community Hall, was the scene of great gaiety last Wednesday evening when a large crowd attended the Coronation novelty dance. The hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion with buns, streamers, etc., and there were lots of novelties handed out that added to the hilarity of the evening. The Wembley Orchestra, led by Bob (Johnny) Buss, McFarlane (saxophone), Nick Smarink (bandle) with various fiddlers at the piano—supplied excellent music while C. Aldred and Art. Parade And Crowning Ceremonies Are Held—Nurse and Postmistress Also Honored DEBOLT, May 17.—The people of DeBolt and the surrounding country entered into the spirit of the King's Coronation in a manner which was credit to the community and the whole celebration was one of color and glow.

Some little time ago a meeting of the various societies in the district was called together to discuss the wisdom of holding such a celebration. Mr. John Wilburn, president of the DeBolt Country Club, was present and presided at the gathering and nominated Mr. W. G. Given to be the chairman of the celebration. Dr. Neilson was named secretary. The meeting got down to business and appointed several committees to look after the various departments.

The women present consisted of Mrs. George DeBolt, Mrs. Thomas Moore, Mrs. John Wilburn, Mrs. D. D. McArthur, and Mrs. W. G. Given. These women represented the various societies, viz. Busy Bees Ladies Aid, Auxiliary B. E. L. and all promised their help in a very creditable manner, both in money and work.

The following schools were represented by their respective teachers: Mountain Springs, Mr. Nicholson; Darwin, Mr. Hughes; Edison Trail, Mr. Fernel.

It was estimated that it would take 150 medals to go around the children in connection with the schools and allow for children not of school age. These were ordered from Birk's, Calgary.

Mr. H. E. DeBolt outlined a form of King and Queen Coronation ceremony.

Mr. Albert Kadey also represented the Darwin School, and a donation of two dollars was made toward expenses from each organization.

The three teachers were appointed a committee to select the King and Queen, the Archbishop of Canterbury, and make all the necessary arrangements for that part of the ceremony, crowning the King and Queen.
